

What to Expect

Phone a Friend

01 Prepare for your Call

Here are a few (totally optional!) suggestions to consider - write out a list of all the questions you'd like to get answered - list out any links you'd like to share - or even put together a simple document or slideshow to show us photos of your space, pieces of furniture or decor you have your eye on (or already own), or floor plans - anything you'd like to discuss!

If we can review any of this info prior your consultation, please shoot it over so we can maximize our time together!

02 Meet your Designer

We'll leverage Zoom Video conferencing so we can meet face-to-face. We'll assess your design dilemma and provide recommendations on how to improve the functionality and aesthetic of your space! The time is yours.

We offer guidance, support and advice to those who have some idea of what home-related questions they want to get answered, and are happy to 'Do It Yourself.'

03 Improve your Space

Equipped with ideas and recommendations from your designer, you're ready to make some progress on your space! We get that homes don't come together overnight and design is an iterative process, so we offer one follow-up inquiry via email with all Phone a Friend packages and hope you'll utilize our consultations throughout your design journey.
